

Report a missing person

You can report a missing person when

- someone is missing
- and
- you are worried about their safety and health. For example, they have not come home from work.

To report a missing person

- go to the police station
- or
- ask for the police to visit you.

You do not have to wait 24 hours to report someone missing.

It is not against the law to go missing. The person who is missing will not get into trouble.

Bring to the police station
the missing person's

- photo
- phone numbers

- medical information. For example, medications and doctors names.

- bank account details.

You must also bring

- a list of
  - names
  - phone numbers

and

- addresses

for the missing person's friends and family.

- a list of places the missing person might go.

For example, work places or favourite places.

- a description of the missing person.

For example, hair colour, eye colour, height and weight.

Police will ask you what you think happened to the missing person.

Support for family and friends

Call the Families and Friends of Missing Persons Service (FFMPS)

1800 633 063 (option 7)

The Easy English is from information in Report missing persons.

Scope's Communication Resource Centre wrote the Easy English.

July 2013.

www.scopevic.org.au.

To see the original book, contact the NSW Police Force.

Mayer-Johnson LLC says we can use the Picture Communication

Symbols © 1981 – 2013.

Change pictures © 2011. www.changepeople.info.

Valuing People ClipArt © Inspired Services, UK.

www.inspiredservices.org.uk